[Contribution to the shortening of the treatment period of acute purulent meningitis]. The authors describe in their paper the technique employed in the shortening of the period of treatment of acute purulent meningitis, which was achieved by introduction of the scheme of therapy which consisted in use of antifungal preparations (Metronidazol, Amphotericine B, Fluconazole), fresh autophagia from the patients, and medicamental therapy. They present the results of an extensive analysis of the experiment made in 91 patients with acute purulent 3e33713323
