Aug 10, 2018 I'm not yet announced my presence, but I've made a template for my profile, in steam info box templates 2016 steam info box templates 2016 Dec 29, 2018 The end of Steam in the end of this year Feature request I would like to have a feature which will let me, after editing my profile, display, if someone has changed his/her profile, and if they did, I would like. steam info box templates 2016 steam info box templates 2016 steam info box templates 2016 Now, I'm not sure why they did not put the one which the designer desired in the last picture, because it is very much similar to what he wants. Perhaps it took time for the Steam staff. I would like to know: How I could change the message of the 'Custom Info Box' and the 'Steam Log in' Message. Is it possible to, after editing my profile, display, if someone has changed his/her profile, and if they did, I would like to know. Is it possible to add a custom icon? A: Steam Custom Info Box Style (changes made during edit) Remark: All changes except for the upper border are up to your style

(header, color, text, icon) and are changes made automatically by Steam. As you can see, the final (editable) value of the "Button style:" and the "Borders:" you get from the desired style above (green). Changes of border size and appearance are up to you to implement. Edit: Even though the border sizes are auto-updated during profile edits, it can happen, especially when users edit their own profile, that the new border size isn't exactly what they want, so if you are wondering why you didn't see the changes you made, it is because you changed the border color as well. Steam Info Box Templates custom infoboxes infobox art steam info box art info box art A: Actually, Infobox's are meant to be shared among your profile members. That's what the community is, and it is because of this fact that you can see your own infobox in your profile's information panel. While everyone can have an infobox, only your own members can see it (and of course, see your infobox's content). Also, it is not possible to change your infobox's and it's content without being a member. You can add some information to your profile's infobox, but not to the others's, since it will make it possible for anyone to see your infobox's content. The only way of being able to add custom infobox's to your profile's infoboxes, is if you are a member and have the "custom infobox" permission. See this answer for more information. So, in a nutshell, if you want to create custom infobox's, I would suggest to create your own workshop content, and distribute it to other members using the "commodity" system. This will allow you to embed your custom infobox's into your own profile's infobox. If you don't want to create your own workshop content (this depends on you), you could create an infobox and redistribute it using the "commodity" system. This will allow you to embed your infobox into other members profiles' infobox. If you want to learn more about the "commodity" system, this question would be a good start. Q: How can I convert a non ascii character in the middle of a string to underscore? I am generating some links in C# and one link is `links = links.Replace(LinksReplace.Link, Markdown.Encode(new string[] { "", "" })).Trim();` This is some of the output: Links: I am using the line above to create some links. The problem is some of the links will contain a non ascii character like this one: 3da54e8ca3
