Free Train Simulator Mods, Train Simulator Mods, Train Simulator Mods, TrainQ: Can I keep my Google Analytics running even when I'm offline? I'm having a lot of trouble getting Google Analytics to function on my site. I'd like to run it along with a benchmark.js script that pulls information from the Adwords API, and every time my site refreshes, I want to run my benchmark script. But even on a completely idle browser, the Google Analytics javascript constantly tries to connect to their servers (which I don't want it to). That's causing my benchmark.js script to fail because it doesn't reach the Adwords API (which it doesn't need to). A: Finally found a viable solution to this problem.

It still doesn't work, but it no longer stops my benchmark.js script from running. I'm not sure why the original solution did not work, but this fixed it: I renamed my js file from benchmark.js to benchmark1.js. Then I added a couple lines of code before the javascript that calls the benchmark1.js: // Your other javascript goes here var gajsHost = (("https:" == document.location.protocol)? "" : ""); document.write(unescape("%3Cscript src=\"" + gajsHost + "google-analytics.com/ga.js" type='text/javascript'%3E%3C/script%3E"));
