Q: Python - Converting long String to List I am trying to convert my long String which contains lots of lines to a list. Here is what I have tried: `def parse(string): list = [] tokens = list(re.findall('^[0-9]?([a-z]?)(.*)$', string)) return list print(parse("1 2 3 4"))` Which gives me this output: ['1', '2', '3', '4'] But I want the output to be like this: ['1', '2', '3', '4'] ['A', 'B', 'C', 'D', 'E'] ['F', 'G', 'H', 'I'] I know it is possible because I can do it with a much shorter string. So I was wondering if it's possible to do this with my long string? A: You can use `map(lambda x: x.strip(), string): >>> map(lambda x: x.strip(), "1 2 3 4".split(' '))` ['1', '2', '3', '4'] `>>> map(lambda x: x.strip(), "A B C D E F G H I".split(' '))` ['A', 'B', 'C', 'D', 'E', 'F', 'G', 'H', 'I'] This invention relates to a method of making a discrete data file storage device and, more particularly, to a method of making a file storage device which is self-sustaining. In the data communications field, file storage devices are used to store and deliver data files. File storage devices, such as optical discs, compact discs, laser tapes, floppy discs, and the like are used to store and deliver data files. In a typical application, data stored on a file storage device is backed up
